This twenty third annual convention of Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States and British Provinces, is to be held in the city of Baltimore, May 21-25, 1919. This promises to be one of the most interesting and important gatherings of the Young Men's Christian Associations ever held. Mr. Charles F. Farnham, of Geneva, Switzerland, Secretary of the committee of the Associations of all lands, expects to be present. The executive committee of Associations of America is collecting reports of Associations of the world for presentation at this convention. Reports have been received from the Associations at Jerusalem, Damascus, Marash and Beirut. The report of the last is printed in Arabic. The five days immediately preceding this convention (May 16-21) the ninth annual conference of the Association of General Secretaries will be held. Papers will be read introducing conversation on many subjects of great interest to every christian worker.

"Behold How Great a Smoke," Etc.

When, some days ago, we clipped the item referred to below from one of our exchanges, (and we noticed it going the rounds of the press generally) we little imagined that anybody would be hurt by it, and were therefore not a little surprised to receive to day the following card, from the clergy of the village thus made famous:

The following statement appears in the Decatur Weekly Republican of April 10th, 1919:

"In Kimmunity, a village in Marion county, there has recently been a revival. One of the church members in securing members actually offered a chromo to converts who joined that particular church. It is assumed that the above statement is literally true."

We, the undersigned, deem it our duty, in justice to ourselves and the churches we represent, to say that the above statement is a malicious falsehood, calculated to injure society and make a wrong impression upon the minds of those who are not acquainted with our city or people.

H. W. CHURCH,
Pastor M. E. Church
O. M. Church,
Pastor M. E. Church South
P. H. Church,
Pastor C. P. Church

In a note accompanying the above card Rev. Mr. Crider (who formerly lived at Mt. Zion in this county) explains how the slanderous report got started. He says a humorous fellow in the town, in a spirit of jest, told some body that Rev. Mr. Crider was offering a chromo for any one to join the church, and from this frolicsome joke the story got into the newspapers. Mr. Crider wants to know who told the story here. Blame your soul, nobody told it in Decatur. We just found it floating about among "the current literature of the day," and gave the wisp an additional boost, thereby helping to give Kimmunity a name and fame among the noted places of the earth.

The Republican central committee of St. Louis, having received information that 1,500 persons, not legally registered, voted at the recent election in that city, the Republican candidates for city council served notices of contest, giving names and particulars, and a motion was made at the first meeting of the new council to refer a resolution ordering investigation to the committee on registration and elections. This committee is Republican, and it is thought the investigation will be ordered. If the votes are declared illegal it will change the result in the city, electing Republicans instead of Democrats.

A Washington dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial says: "Senator Hamlin, in speaking of the activity and earnestness of Republicans in the White House, in the Cabinet and in Congress in opposing the revolutionary proceedings of the Democrats, remarked to day that the Liberal Republicans had become so stalwart within the last few weeks that he who had been at the head and front of stalwart Radicalism when such a position was not popular, was left way behind, and although standing exactly where he always has been, was now ranked as a conservative. He spoke particularly of a certain ex-Senator who had not always acted in harmony with the Republicans, who had even recently been suspected of too conservative views to suit the Republican party, but who now was on the extreme line of stalwartism, and was urging old Republicans like himself (Hamlin) to stand firm."

BLAINE.

The principal feature of congressional proceedings yesterday was the great speech of Blaine, who seemed to be at his best. The following language, which he used in closing his speech, will give some idea of his effort:

I do not profess to know what the President of the United States will do when these bills are presented to him. I certainly should never speak a solitary word of disrespect of a gentleman holding that exalted position, and I hope I shall not speak a word unfitting the dignity of the office of Senator of the United States, but as there has been speculation here and there on both sides as to what he would do, it seems to me that the dead horses of the Union would rise from their graves if he should consent to be intimidated and outraged in his proper constitutional power by threats like these. All the war measures of Abraham Lincoln are to be wiped out, say leading Democrats. The Bourbons of France, basing themselves, I believe, after restoration, in removing every trace of Napoleon's power and grandeur, even disclaiming the "N" from public monuments raised to perpetuate his glory, but the dead man's hand from St. Helena reached out and destroyed them in their pride and in their glory, and I tell the Senators on the other side of this Chamber, I tell the Democratic party North and South—the South in the lead and the North following—that this slow, unmoving finger of scorn from the tomb of the martyred President, from the prairies of Illinois, will wither and destroy them. Though dead, he speaketh. (Great applause in the galleries.) When you present these bills with these threats to the living President, who bore the commission of Abraham Lincoln and who served with honor in the army of the Union which Lincoln restored and preserved, I can think only of one appropriate response from his lips or his pen. He should say to you with all the scorn belitting his station: "Is this servant a dog, that he should do this thing?"

A Soft Answer.

The Utica (New York) Journal vouches for the correctness of the following:

We hear it stated that at the close of Mrs. Van Catta's sermon, one evening last week, she frequently remarked that she believed her deceased parents were doomed to hell fire as a just punishment for their misdeeds in this life. At this point a Cornell sophomore, tired of her remarks, rose in the front part of the church and quietly attempted to take himself to scenes more congenial to the average collegian. When half way down the aisle the widow's eye fell upon him, and she pounced upon him with the terrible exclamation, "That young man is going to hell," at which he instantly retorted, "Don't you want to send some word to your father and mother?" and marched out to the music of the Cornell canes.

SENATOR WINDOM, in an interview on the colored exodus and the objects of the Emigration Aid Society, was asked if any of the white people of the South agreed with his well known views on the subject. In reply he said:

I have had several letters from them endorsing this view and expressing the belief that in the distribution of the colored race is the only hope of the South as well as of the negro. This opinion is by no means confined to Republicans in that section. One of the gentlemen who thus writes was a member of the last National Democratic Convention. Of course this sentiment does not exist to any considerable extent among the Democrats of that section. The prevailing sentiment of that party at the South is that the negro should remain as a basis of representation and the servant of his former master, and be content with whatever conditions the dominant race choose to impose upon him.

"To Be or Not to Be." It is a question of importance to all affected creatures whether they will be cured of their ills by remedies which have a long tradition of bad after effects, or by a medicine that strikes at the cause of the malady and eradicates it, without doing any more harm than that much water? THE SENATE DEBATE.

Great Speech by Blaine.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—There was a very full attendance at the session of the House to day, and great interest was manifested as to whether the Greenbackers would be enabled to get in their financial bill. The Republicans were on the alert, and were quite ready for their opponents.

As soon as the journal was read the call of states for the introduction of bills was begun, and the Speaker, turning to the Democratic side, recognized Mr. Laid, of Maine, who sent to the Clerk's desk a financial bill.

Mr. Conger raised the point of order that under the rules no bill could be introduced without one day's notice.

After discussion, the Speaker overruled the point of order, whereupon Mr. Conger took an appeal and Mr. Cox moved to lay the appeal on the table. The yeas and nays were ordered, the Republicans being desirous of consuming the morning hour, and thus defeat the Greenbackers' attempt to introduce bills.

The appeal was laid upon the table. The Republicans carried their point, and used all the morning hour without allowing a single bill to be introduced.

The result was demanded, and, pending a motion to take up the Legislative Appropriation bill, Mr. Monro moved to suspend the rules and pass a resolution declaring that it is the opinion of the House that no legislation changing the laws relating to the tariff and currency should be undertaken at the present session.

The yeas and nays were ordered on the passage of this resolution.

Mr. Monro's resolution failed to command a two-thirds vote.

Senator Blaine opened the debate in the Senate to day on the Army bill, in the presence of an immense audience, who gave close attention and were, in the main, in sympathy with him. The speech was a strong one, and full of Mr. Blaine's peculiarities. He devoted considerable attention to the question of the military being at the polls since the war, and showed that if the troops now in the South were instructed to watch the polls, every soldier would have to take the place of twelve. It is the opinion of Senators that the debate will run into next week.

Information at the Treasury Department from various official sources is that the disease of pleuro pneumonia among the cattle in this country is slowly disappearing, owing to the prompt action of Federal officials, working in connection with state authorities.

Mr. Hendricks vows that he won't take second place on no ticket, shelp him. Mr. Hendricks should not be made. Half a hat is better than no bread. Phyllis' second fiddle is preferable to paying at the door. If Mr. Hendricks doesn't take second place when Mr. Tilden forecloses his mortgage next year, Mr. Thurman or Mr. Payne will be made exultant candidate with right of succession, and Mr. Hendricks will vanish from the arena of Democratic politics, like the Cheshire cat in the story, and leave but a sad, sweet smile behind. The only card (and shokin'ad) of safety consists in gripping fast hold of Mr. Tilden's coat tails.

London, April 14.—The old established firm of Charles Guinness & Co., ship and insurance brokers, has failed. The Times, in a leading editorial, deprecates resorting to the Sultan to punish the Khedive of Egypt. "Can any one," it says, "seriously maintain that we should reverse our policy so as to readjust into Egypt the controlling power of the Sultan with all its evils? Every move of policy is against it. The Egyptian problem should be solved by Western Powers without Oriental aid. It is not insuperable. The first difficulty is surmounted when we understand we are to have the handling of it ourselves, the second when we understand it must be solved irrespective of speculation of the Bourse."

Turin has appeared for the first time in Italy, at Brescia and Piacenza.

St. Petersburg, April 14. While the Czar was taking his morning walk early to-day, near the palace, four shots were fired at him. The Czar was unhurt. The man who fired the shots was arrested by the crowd, which the firing attracted. The city is now being decorated in thankfulness for the Czar's escape.

MADISON, IND., April 14.—Jimmy O'Donnell has his twenty-four goose eggs in installments of eight. The first eight in 4 minutes, second eight in 5.20, and the third in 5.15. The whole time occupied in preparing and eating was 29 minutes. At the close of the feast he called for the goose to eat it on top of the eggs.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary Evans has telegraphed to the United States Minister to Russia to convey to the Czar President Hayes' congratulations upon his escape from assassination.

St. Louis, April 14.—A Globe-Tribune special, from Collinsville, Ill., about 11 miles from there, says, a terrible cyclone from the northwest struck town at a quarter to three o'clock this afternoon, and, taking a zigzag course, with a general direction almost due east, tore through the place, demolishing ten buildings and ruining about thirty others, and damaging, more or less, some seventy-five residences and business houses. Light rain preceded the storm, and nearly everybody was in doors when the cyclone struck; but notwithstanding ten homes were leveled with the ground, only one person was killed, a little girl named Annie Reynolds, and one or two others badly injured. The storm lasted but two or three minutes.

As soon as quietness began to prevail, ready hands and strong arms went to work to search the ruins for those who might have been caught by falling houses. From a double tenement house occupied by John Reynolds and Pat Buner, a six year old boy of the latter was taken in an unconscious condition, and with a broken leg. He was soon revived, and placed in charge of a physician. Little Annie Reynolds was also taken from this house, dead and crushed almost out of semblance of a human being. Mrs. Jacobs, aged 70, and two children of Thomas Nelson, aged 12 and 9 years, were quite badly injured, but beyond these, no one is known to have been hurt. Among the houses destroyed or damaged were the following: The two story frame dwelling of Mrs. Griffiths, demolished; a row of four houses owned by Fred Metz, occupied by four families, badly wrecked, two of them being almost totally destroyed. The large tenement house of C. L. Roberts, occupied by eleven persons, was twisted out from the foundation and carried about ten feet, and nearly gutted of its contents, but the inmates received but slight scratches and bruises. Another tenement house, also belonging to C. L. Roberts and occupied by Reynolds and Boyan, previously mentioned, was completely demolished. The residence of Mr. Rabeck, occupied by Wm. Johnston, editor of the Agnes, had its roof carried away.

A cluster of tenement houses owned by Richard Withers were badly damaged, but the occupants were unharmed. A carpenter shop and residence occupied by W. W. Nelson were wrecked, and Nelson, his wife and two children were more or less hurt. A large two-story frame occupied by Henry Hadden, back as a saloon and boarding house, had a porch about 75 feet long and four feet high carried away.

The Episcopal church was badly shaken up. Funeral services were being held at the time, and the falling plaster and flying window glass bruising and cutting nearly all the people present, but none seriously. Numerous other shops and dwellings were damaged, fences, plank side walks, trees, out-houses and stables were blown to pieces or carried away. Gardens destroyed, etc., etc.

The cyclone, as usual, was rotary in its movement, and struck and bounded from the earth three times during its passage through the town. Its width was only from 60 to 80 feet. One of the evidences of its force was the picking up of a horse and buggy, and carrying it to a height of from twenty to thirty feet to a distance of about fifteen rods, discharging it to the earth, crushing the horse to jelly and the buggy to splinters. The cemetery just outside of town was laid waste, nearly every tombstone in it being leveled with the ground. The storm disappeared in the east, and there are reports that it did damage elsewhere, but the reports are not yet confirmed. Total damage in Collinsville is estimated at $50,000.

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 14.—It has been raining here all day, and reports from the whole State of Kansas tell of a plentiful fall. Farmers who have been rather despondent of late, owing to an anticipated drought, are now jubilant. Official reports from every division of the Kansas Pacific Railroad show a heavy fall, both on the 13th and 14th, commencing in the Denver Division, and increasing in volume over the middle and eastern sections, and the crop reports are generally favorable. At Hugo, 150 miles west, it was snowing about noon.

Unhappiness of Early Rising.

A German physician of eminence has lately been investigating the subject of early rising, and has come to the conclusion that, far from making a man "healthy, wealthy and wise," it has quite the contrary effect, and shortens the life of prolonging it. In the majority of cases which he has investigated the long lives have indulged in late hours, and at least eight out of every ten persons who attained the age of 80 and upwards were in the habit of not retiring to rest until the small hours, and of remaining in bed until the day was far advanced. He has no doubt whatever that early rising is a most pernicious habit for those who go to bed late; and like Charles Lamb, thinks it better for everybody to delay getting up until the morning has had a chance to become well aired.

Wit and Humor.
The numberless one-eyed men about
the country speak volumes for the popularity of agency.
Railroad flagmen are of rare courage.
It is not until they are dead that their spirits flag.
And now the tramp has a new excuse.
What he wants and must have is money
enough to buy a policeman's coat to time himself.
A stuffy starched shirt collar, with ragged edges, will make a man sit down and wonder how many flights it is to the other world.
"My dear," said a gentleman to his wife, "our club is going to have all the home comforts." "Indeed," answered the wife, "and when, pray, is our home to have all the club comforts?"
There was never but one shirt maker in this country who understood how a button hole should be placed in a collar,
and he died before he could teach any
of the others.
I envy the man that can talk 365
days in a year on one subject, and think he is original and interesting all the time, but I don't want to be a sun-law of one of these kind of people - John B. Higgins.
